1. The 103rd Motorized Infantry Division of the Czechoslovak Army is stationed to the north of the little town of Milovice. Some units are about seven kilometers north of Milovice, at Zelena Luka/sic. Other detachments are in the camp at Vurtice, formerly occupied by the 23rd "Dunkirk" Armored Brigade.

2. The 103rd Motorized Infantry Division has three regiments, a reconnaissance unit, a unit of tanks, and a certain number of other auxiliary units. The regiment is equipped with mortars originating in old German stocks. The heavy and light machine guns are made in the Zbrojovka military arsenal. It has light antitank guns, and forty-round automatic rifles of the type: Zbrojovka 2325. Regiments have a strength of 1,200.

3. The troop transports are of the German type, HKL Maybach. They use 160 liters of fuel per 100 kilometers. Trucks are of the Tatra type. The division has 128 five-ton trucks. It also has Praga-RND three-ton trucks with Diesel motors and Praga-RN trucks, with a gasoline motor. There are also some old Dodge, Chevrolet, and Studebaker trucks. Motorcycles are of Czechoslovak manufacture, model: JAVA-250.

4. South of Uhercice, gasoline depots have been dug into the hillside.
